

Starting from its humble beginnings in a rented garage, Weldall and their founder Dave Bahl Sr., have enjoyed tremendous growth since Weldall's inception in 1973.

His commitment to quality, reliability, re-investment in equipment and continuous improvement in technology, has led to the development of the 144000 square foot facility they currently enjoy.

Dave Bahl Sr. and two sons, Dave Jr. and Dan, are all involved in the day to day operation of the business and understand the role of being a good corporate citizen. Work ethically and diligently, while sharing globally.

In 2007, Weldall contributed a portion of their profits to provide the roof section for the addition to St. Paul's Church in Waukesha County.

That is part of their everyday philosophy, with the other part being to employ only the best people. Weldall has accomplished that and is very proud of every employees contribution.

Because of this philosophy of sharing, Dave Sr. himself, has been a past director of the Waukesha Chamber of Commerce, a past recipient of the Small Business Person of the year award in 1986, a board member of Waukesha County Technical College, and a regular sponsor to the American Cancer Society, the Heart Association, the YMCA, the greater Milwaukee Initiative, and many others.

Due to Weldall's commitments to the community, their customers, and their employees, they were awarded the 2008 overall winner of the Small Business of the Year in Waukesha Wisconsin.
